O'Brian Hall 509 (Baldy Center)

Dr. Anne Muxel, Sciences Po, Paris
“Love, Convictions and Politics in France and Beyond”

Anne Muxel is a senior CNRS researcher based at the CEVIPOF at Sciences Po in Paris, France. She specializes in the study of elections from a political sociology perspective and has worked for many years on the phenomena involved in building political identities. In 2011, she published The New Voter in Western Europe: France and Beyond in collaboration with Bruno Cautrés. Her latest book, Love and Convictions in the French Political Consciousness, was published in 2014. For more information and an abstract, see www.ceus.buffalo.edu.

Dr. Muxel's talk is part of the CEUS's Circulation and European Identity colloquium series and theme for 2014-5, which will culminate in a conference on April 24, 2015. The lecture is co-sponsored by the University at Buffalo's OVPRED and Baldy Center for Law and Social Policy.
